This is an addendum to the video instruction "How to use MCG Manager program to load songs". Readers should refer to the main instruction for details that will not be covered in this section.

We describe below the steps using MP4 song files. Exact same steps applies to AVI song files.

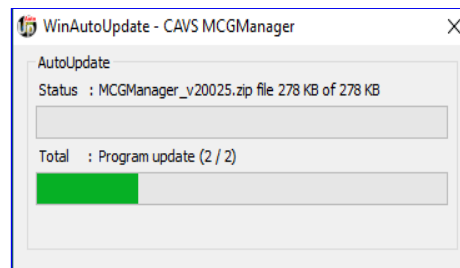

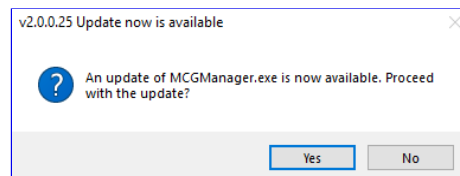

1. Updating 205G player firmware and Songbook program.

For the 205G USB player, upgrade the firmware to the latest version at AP_ROMH.zip.

For the 205G Plus player, upgrade the firmware to the latest version at AP-ROMH.zip and also the Songbook program to the latest version at Songbook_upgrade.zip.

2. Updating MCG Manager program

When starting the MCG Manager program in a PC, be sure to have Internet connected. The program will automatically update to version 20025 or higher. First, the following popup windows will appear.

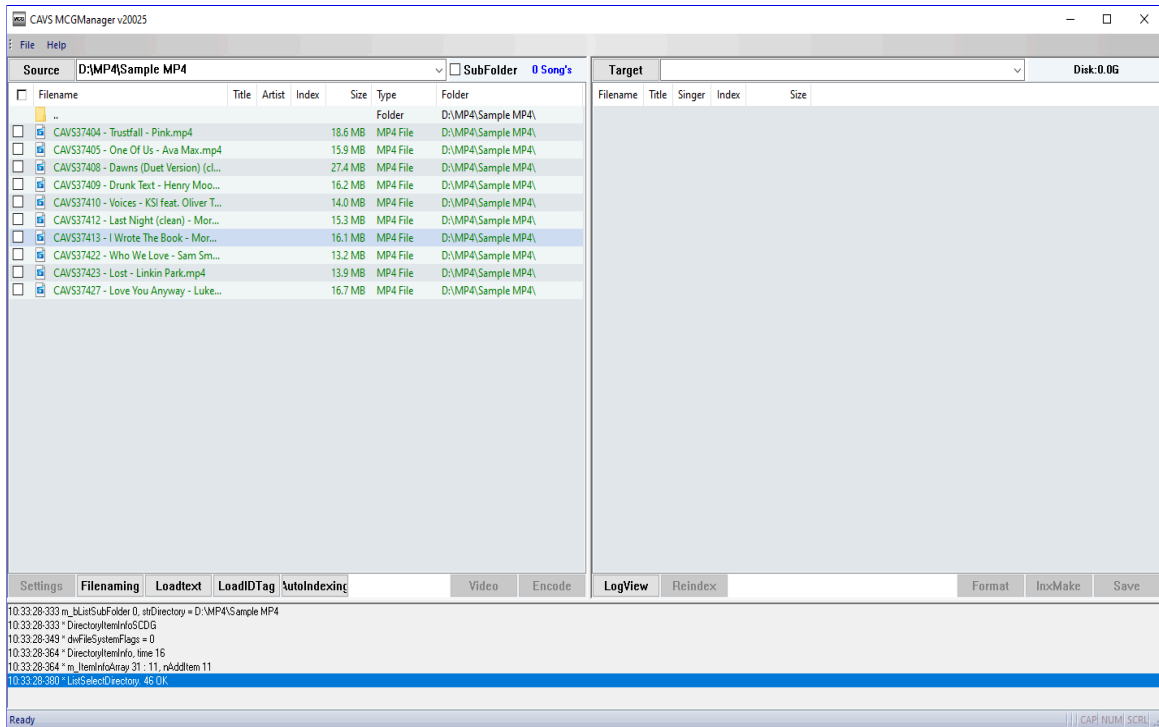

The MCG Manager program will then start at version 20025 or higher.

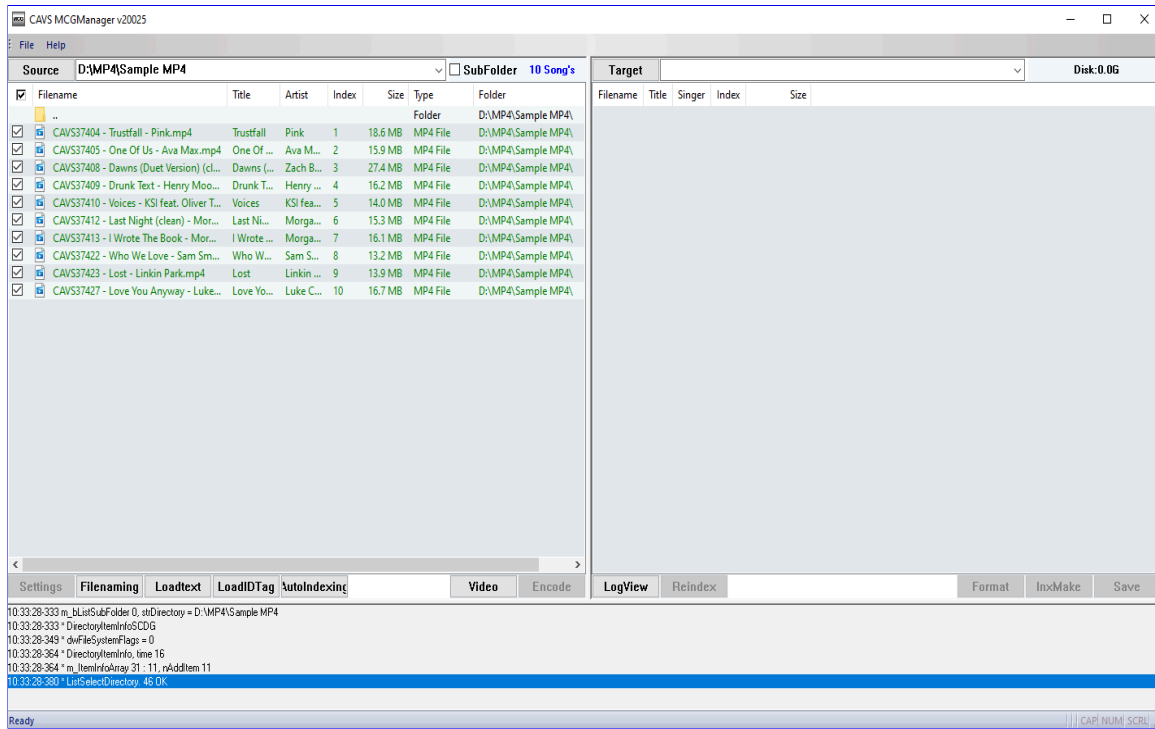

3. Selecting MP4 song files

Click on "Source" and select a folder containing the MP4 song files.

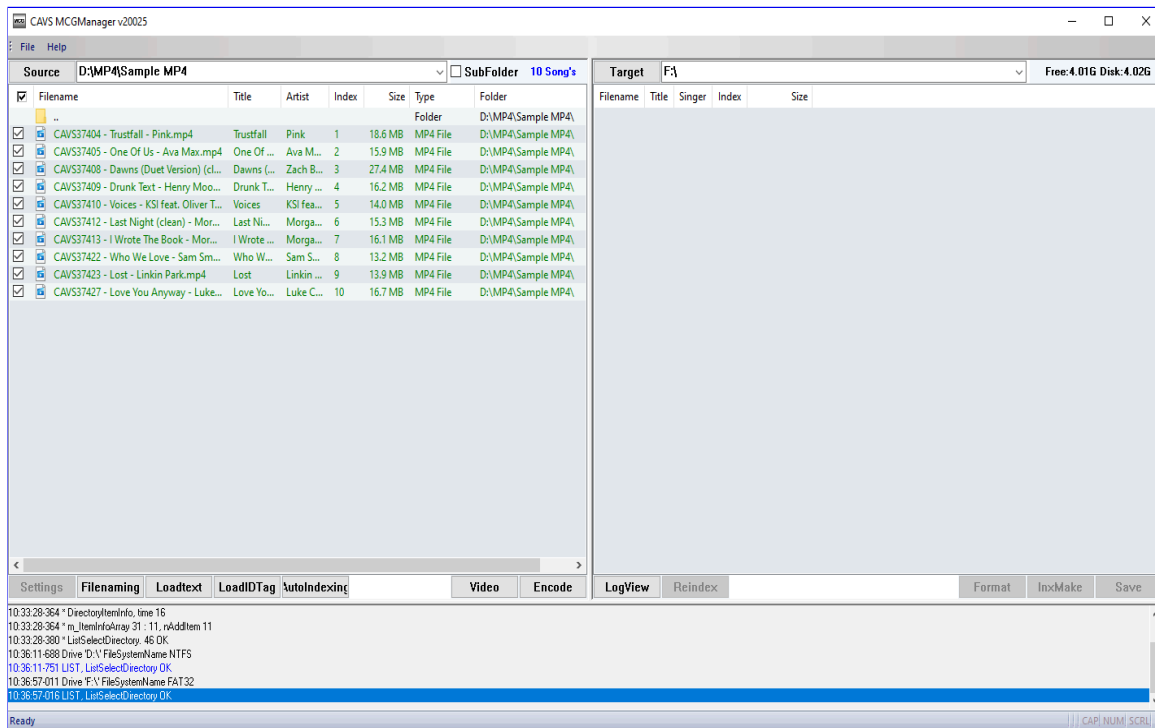

Use File naming to fill in the title and artist filed.

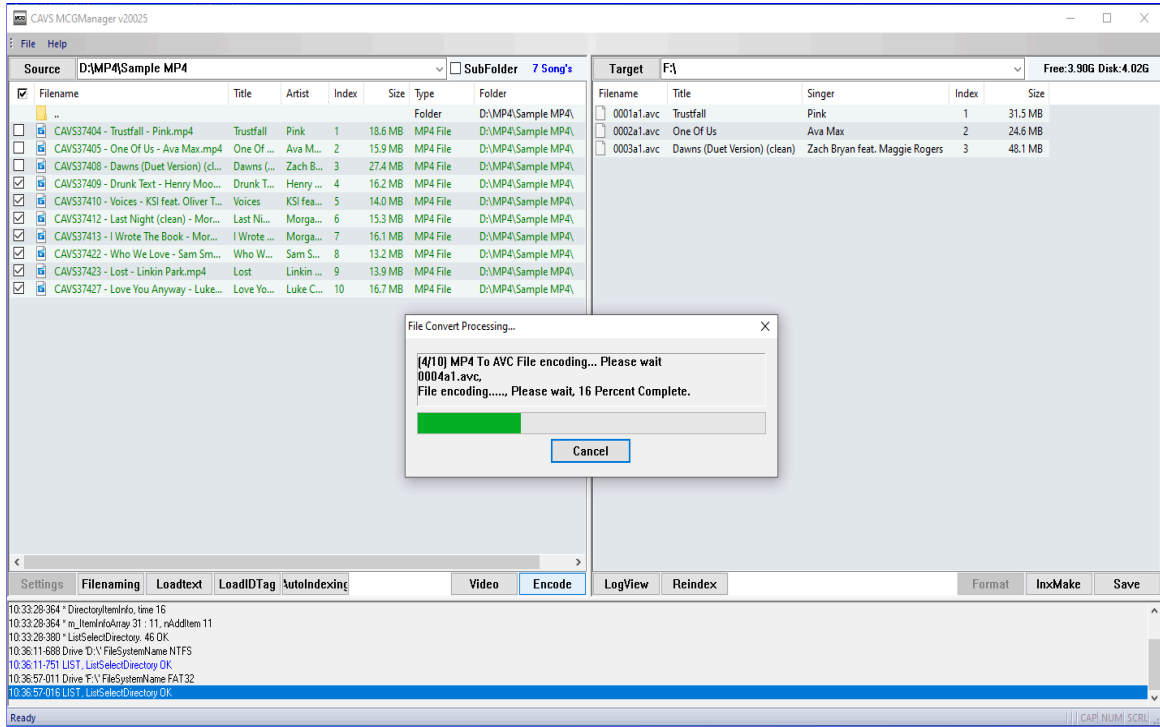

Use AutoIndexing to number the songs sequentially.

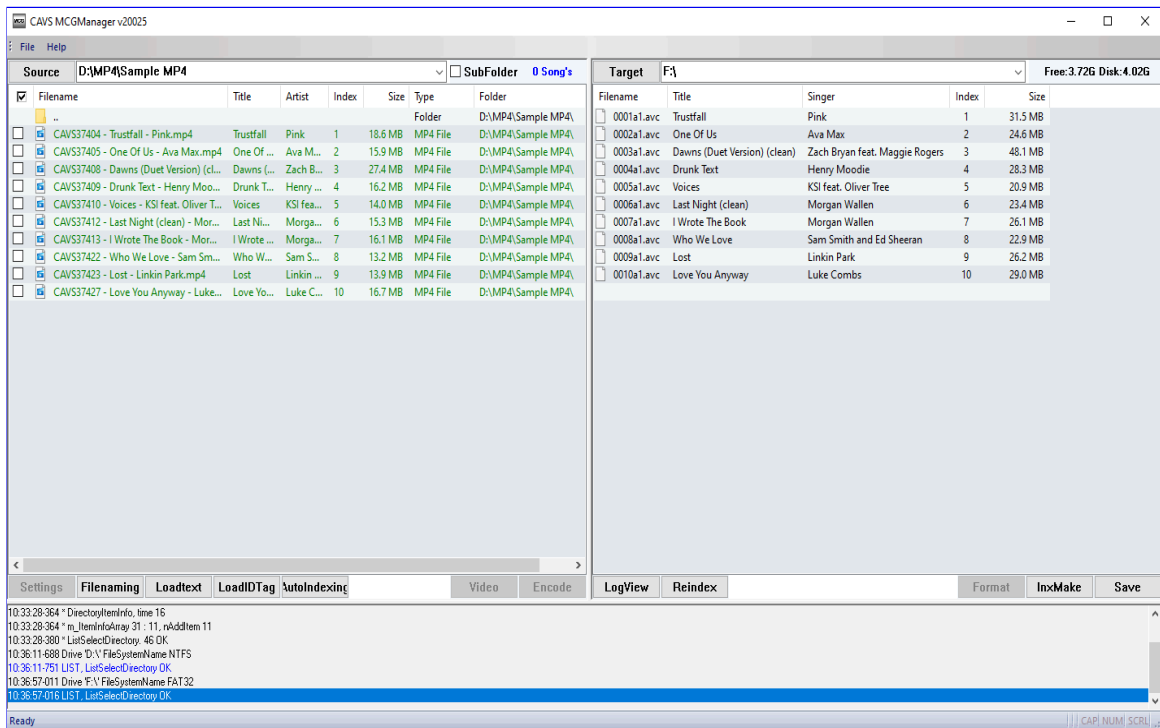

Next, select the Target drive. Here we select a SD card formatted FAT32. The Encode button at the bottom will become enabled.

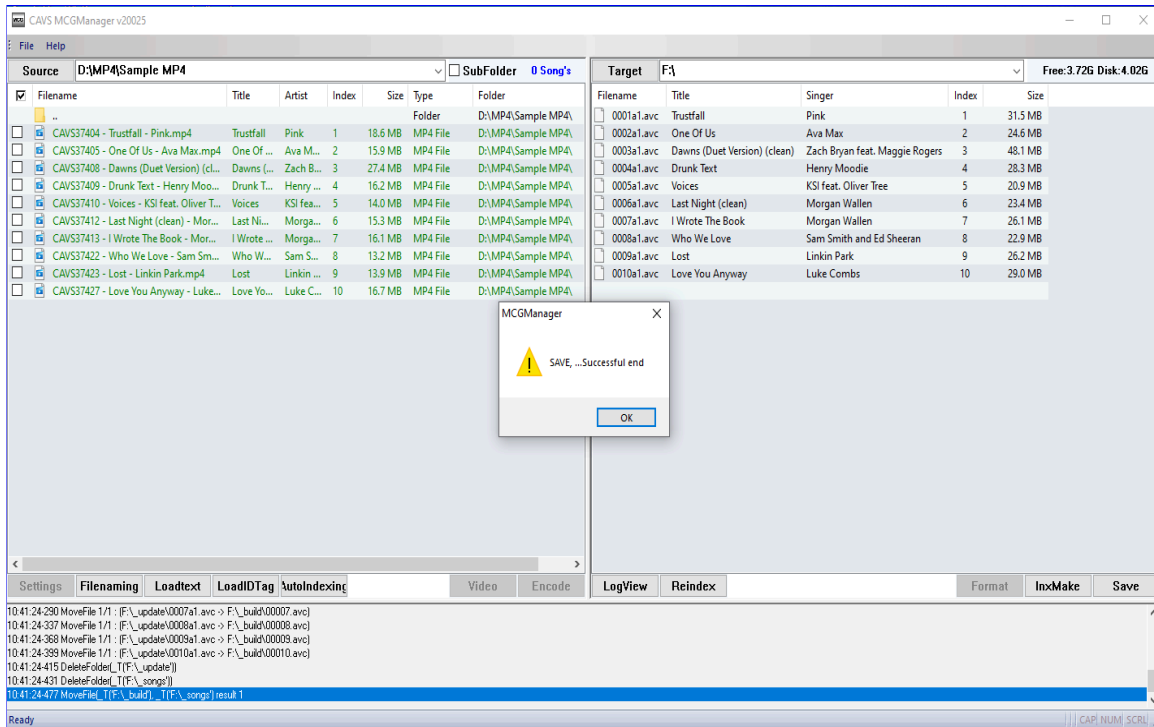

Press the Encode button. The MP4 song files in the Source drive will be processed into the Target drive.

When done, you will see the following screen.

Press the Save button on the bottom right. You will see the following message of completion. Click OK.

4. Playing the MP4 song files

Take out the device from the F:\ drive which in our example is a SD card.

Insert the device into the 205G USB or 205G Plus player.

Following screen will appear in the TV connected to the 205G player.

For the 205G Plus player, you can connect using your phone or tablet to see the following Songbook menu.
